

Banking

Our banking department services a broad range of the financial community, including commercial and savings banks, credit unions, mortgage companies, businesses, and individuals in connection with banking and financial services. We have the ability to handle the entire loan cycle from initial credit evaluation through closing; including restructurings, and enforcement.

In addition to serving banks and financial institutions with strictly banking circumstances, our attorneys advise on matters involving federal and state regulations, mergers and acquisitions, and loan participation; including the various business and real estate issues that arise within these transactions.

Our lawyers work with a diverse array of industries and individuals and are committed to assisting clients in domestic financings with our knowledge, responsiveness, and experience which is essential in handling matters in an efficient manner.
