Banking

Knowledge, experience, and the judicious ability to “pay close attention to detail” are essential to handling complex banking matters.

Our experienced attorneys are proactive and able to efficiently handle the demands of the multifaceted bank transaction to the satisfaction of both sides. Our commitment mirrors the goals of our clients: “to complete the deal”.

Our Banking Law Department advises and represents a diverse array of public and private clients who are seeking domestic financing. Clients include borrowers and lenders; commercial and savings banks, credit unions, mortgage companies, businesses, and individuals. Our representation is comprehensive and consistent. Service is timely and expertly delivered throughout the entire loan cycle; from initial credit evaluation through closing; including restructurings, and enforcement.

In addition to serving banks and financial institutions with strictly banking circumstances, our attorneys advise on matters involving federal and state regulations, mergers and acquisitions, and loan participation; to include the various business and real estate issues that arise within these transactions.
